JinkoSolar's Testing Lab Receives Certificate from China National Accreditation Service

August 30, 2012

SHANGHAI, Aug. 30, 2012 /PRNewswire-Asia/ -- JinkoSolar Holding Co., Ltd. ("JinkoSolar" or the "Company") (NYSE: JKS), a leading global solar power product manufacturer, today announced that the Company's testing facility has received certification from the China National Accreditation Service ("CNAS") for its industry leading quality controls.

Formed under the supervisions of China's Certification and Accreditation Administration, CNAS is responsible for providing internationally accepted accreditation to laboratories and quality control tests in China.

JinkoSolar's PV testing facility received the Underwriters Laboratories Witness Testing Data Program certificate earlier this year.

"JinkoSolar is committed to using high quality selected materials and components and maintaining stringent quality controls during the production process," commented Kangping Chen, Chief Executive Officer of JinkoSolar. "We view quality as the key to long-term success in the solar industry as we broaden the appeal of our brand globally. This certification demonstrates our reliability as a partner and certifies that our state-of-the-art product testing facility is giving our customers the confidence and performance they need from our solar products to generate decades of sustainable solar energy."
