JinkoSolar Invited to Attend the World Bank PSLO Energy Mission Conference

October 24, 2017

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- JinkoSolar Holding Co., Ltd. (NYSE: JKS) (the "Company," or "JinkoSolar"), a global leader in the solar PV industry, today announced that it was invited to attend the World Bank's Private Sector Liaison Officers (PSLO) Energy Mission Conference hosted at the World Bank Headquarters in Washington D.C. from October 23-25th, 2017. The conference will focus on the topic of "Financing in the Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Sectors" and will be attended by representatives from the World Bank, the Inter-American Development Bank, the Asian Development Bank, the Millennium Challenge Corporation, and other international energy corporations.

With over 100 participants from over 85 countries, the conference is a global dialogue focused on energy investment opportunities by international financial institutions. As the world's largest solar module manufacturer, JinkoSolar was invited to represent the renewable energy industry and to share practical insight from a private sector perspective.

Given its status as the world's largest solar module manufacturer, JinkoSolar has been invited to attend an array of high-profile conferences in recent years. From co-chairing the B20 Energy, Climate, and Resource Efficiency taskforce to speaking at the BRICS Summit earlier this year, JinkoSolar has represented the renewable energy industry well and shared valuable insight on the industry's development. JinkoSolar's focus on high-end technology, technical innovation, global expansion, and sustainable development has won the recognition of the entire industry.

"We are honored to be invited to such an esteemed dialogue with the global banking community. The invitation to JinkoSolar is an affirmation of the important work the renewable energy industry is doing. At the conference, we hope to bring valuable insights on recent advancements in solar deployment. Furthermore, we hope to aid the global sustainable development conversation that will soon affect every aspect of people's lives and the global economies" Kangping Chen, CEO of JinkoSolar said.
